

Basic Source of Invincibility of Korean-style Socialism and Juche Idea

Jozef Servista

Chairman, Czech Group for the Study and Materialization of the Juche Idea

Today, under the leadership of the great Workers' Party of Korea, the DPRK people are waging an energetic fight for the all-round development of socialist building with high confidence in a sure victory.

Korea-style socialism has a fundamental resource that guarantees its unbreakability and invincibility, so it triumphs even in the unprecedented political storms and severe trials.

The fundamental source of the victory of Korean-style socialism is that it has taken the great Juche idea as its guiding ideology and is thoroughly applying it.

Korean-style socialism is a powerful socialism that takes the Juche idea as its guiding ideology and has won hundreds of victories.

The firmness and vitality of socialism depend on scientific, revolutionary, and practical ideology and theory.

Thanks to the Juche idea in the DPRK, they successfully solved the problem of consolidating and developing the ideological basis of socialism and were able to build a unique Korean-style socialism in the world.

Course of socialism's evolution in the DPRK is the course in which hundreds of victories were won by dint of truth embraced by the Juche idea.

There was also a turbulent period of opening the way to build a powerful socialist country, as well as a period of unprecedentedly arduous trials called an Arduous March.

In these days, the DPRK has consistently championed the cause of socialism under the banner of the Juche idea and has not known the slightest faltering on the road.

The DPRK people took the sovereignty of the country and the nation for their life-giving sap, resolutely defended socialism, and managed to achieve amazing achievements one by one under the banner of self-reliance.

All sorts of despicable and cruel maneuvers by imperialists and their supporters failed to frustrate the DPRK people, who were monochrome with the Juche idea, and could not change the course of the DPRK.

An invincible socialist power that is dignified by independence, strong and prosperous by self-reliance - this is the image of the DPRK that embodies the Juche idea.

The strong progress and bright future of Korean-style socialism are based on the Juche idea.

Policies for the people that are introduced and expanded even in times of difficult trials, monumental creations, including modern large residential streets that appear like bamboo shoots at dazzling speed across the country, and the majestic figure of the DPRK, promising a bright future for economic development and laying the groundwork for the building of a powerful state, are a victory of the Juche idea of the Workers' Party of Korea.

The vitality of socialist Korea, whose guiding principle is the immortal Juche idea, is eternal.

Another source of the invincibility of Korean-style socialism is the strength of collectivism.

Despite the unprecedented trials and difficulties in recent decades, the spirit of collectivism has become very apparent in the DPRK.

Numerous virtues and beautiful stories that moved everyone flourished, and revolutionary unity and comradely cooperation were sublimated to a new height.

The whole country is united as one big family and all people generously give their all, seeing it as their duty and greatest reward to dedicate themselves to the country, people, society, and the collective.

Today, as the building of socialism has entered a period of all-round development, there is more of a collectivist spirit in the DPRK.

Everywhere, the flames of collective innovation and solidarity innovation are burning furiously, and helping sick, uncomfortable, and difficult people, and sharing their joys and tribulations, has become a social and national trait.

Apart from this noble spiritual world of the DPRK people, the further evolution of Korean-style socialism cannot be contemplated.

Any move by the imperialists to change and destroy the socialist system of the DPRK will never work for the DPRK people, who honor collectivism as a life requirement and moral obligation.

The source of the invincibility of Korean-style socialism is the revolutionary principles.

Korean-style socialism is an invincible socialism that adheres firmly to revolutionary principles and achieves victorious achievements.

It is a lesson of history that one concession step on a revolutionary principle leads to a concession of 10 or 100 steps, ultimately leading to irreversible consequences of the collapse of socialism.

All the achievements made by the DPRK people in socialist construction over the past decade can be described as a victory of the revolutionary principle.

In the world dominated by logic of power and dominated by national egoism, it is not at all easy to adhere rigorously to revolutionary principles.

If the DPRK relied on other countries and relinquished its principles, then the DPRK name would have already lost its luster and the fate of the DPRK people would be a toy of the imperialists.

Now, hostile forces are doing everything they can to wipe out Korean-style socialism.

The DPRK people are by no means the people who abandon the revolutionary principles they defended as if they were their lives.

The DPRK people are the ones who valued socialism as their life and have learned deep down in their bones that their own way of fighting and creating is the best.

The DPRK people will never back down from a revolutionary principle, no matter what severe test they may face in the future.

Korean-style socialism is always invincible, and its victory is science.