Chairman, Venezuelan Group for the Study of the Philosophy

The Juche idea is an original idea that was developed and systematized with peculiar principles.

President Kim Il Sung said.

“The quality of man to live freely as the master of the world is termed independence.”

The Juche idea is the guiding ideology of the Juche revolution and constitutes the main axis in building and consolidating socialism in the Democratic People’s Republic of Korea.

As elucidated by President Kim Il Sung, the DPRK’s is the Juche-oriented socialism that is chosen by its people and developed by their will and strength.

As a result, a socialist society, that provides the people with well-being, was established. In the DPRK, the people enjoy social benefits in public health, culture, education, science, technology and all other fields. It is included also by the construction of flats that are provided to the people free of charge, which improve all their living conditions.

Thus, the DPRK satisfies demand and interests of the people.

In case of Venezuela, integrating with the territory of the fraternal Korean nation enables the Venezuelan people to know its geographical and historical coincidence by disseminating the Juche idea and making contacts and information not only from the viewpoint of social anthropology that studies people’s origin and evolution but from the viewpoint of the world revolution process.

The Juche philosophy demands to combine efforts and will in the course of revolution.

The geographical and historic view in an academic and analytic scope insists the possibility of study on society, the economy and culture.

In this respect, disseminating and discussing the Juche idea from the geographical and historical point of view enables the Group for the Study of the Philosophy on the Juche Idea in Venezuela to know the political course, the economy and the social and cultural activities of the fraternal nation of the DPRK today. For instance, it enables to approach its reality in relation with those ranging from the founding of the DPRK, which is now making the revolution of Juche, to the contribution which the Republic renders to the building of a world where the people enjoy social justice, peace, fairness, sovereignty and right to self-determination, and to the revolutionary principles displayed and strengthened among the masses, the people as clarified by the Juche idea.

It is necessary to emphasize the importance of the Juche idea in studying that the Juche revolution, through the course of the 70-odd-year revolution, provided the popular masses with righteous and dignified life, paved the road of developing science and technology that teaches them to love and defend the country and gives them profound knowledge to overcome difficulties, and led them to advance steadily along the road.

In conclusion, the Juche idea is the guiding philosophy of the organized people who defend their territory in the struggle against US imperialism and its vassal forces and encourage the building of a world in which social justice and peace are realized.
